

The 12 Lessons of Oneness

A Series of Twelve Energy Transmissions

Message Three: The Great Treasure

Through Wisdom Teacher Sri Ram Kaa & Angelic Oracle Kira Raa

Delivered at TOSA Ranch, Tijeras, NM

December 29, 2007

Archangel Zadkiel speaks:

Yes hello. A glorious hello indeed, is it not? Gloriousness is a great presence, and a treasure, and many are treasure hunters, are they not? Yes, seeking treasure here, seeking treasure there, little diamonds, little jewels... You are the treasure and you know this!

Discovering your Divine Presence

As you move forward now in the treasure of your truth, in the treasury of your soul's expanded understanding of all that has ever been, in this great time of illumination, there are many treasures that you will be uncovering.

The greatest treasure of all is to recognize that within your own heart, Oneness always comes forward through stillness in action.

You say "Zadkiel, explain", we say "OK, we can do this!"

Beloved Ones, Beloved Angels, you are at a great turning of a cycle, at a great wheel that is ready to culminate and turn again. At the culmination, at the turn of the cycle, as you move forward, as the wheel turns, the treasures that have been buried will reveal themselves. You do not need to have an ax or a pick or shovel or a big steam machine, you simply need to be aware of the cycle turning.

Within your heart, within your energy field, within your own make-up, your genetic DNA, are great treasures, great recognitions, great understandings. Each of these has been present, is present, will always be present, and cannot be found when you try to dig. For when you dig, they will indeed either find a new home, move aside, or offer you the gift of the digging process as the gift.

The digging process can be very tenuous, can it not? Your ground right now is very frozen, and so if you were to take a little shovel and go dig in the ground, would it be tenuous? Yes, it would be very tedious, would it not? After just a little while you would say, "Oh my back hurts, oh my arm hurts, oh my heart hurts," because you are digging against a natural flow. The ground is frozen, thereby saying, "Leave me now, let me rest, let me rejuvenate, let me be. Your time will come for digging and I will reveal to you the time for digging by offering you softness, a thawing, a comfort, so that you may find what you need to find in the comfort without digging so hard against the time."

Beloved Ones, you are in a time of great support to receive the revelation of the treasures that offer to you the great unfoldment, and the revelation that it is your divine presence.

This is not something that you must dig for, it is indeed that which is preparing you to move into the Great Cycle of Divine Oneness. Now in the Cycle of Divine Oneness, as the Allness is expressing itself, digging for treasure has always been, has it not? It is celebrated. It has been rewarded in many ways. It becomes very joyous or very heartbreaking in the search.

Balancing the Energy of Action

One of the greatest treasures that has been harvested from your world, you call oil. It has been dug, it has been cherished, it has been revealed, it has been celebrated, it has been given many, many, many ways to be. As one treasure diminishes, another treasure reveals itself. In your world, the oil of your world, is a lifeblood of your planet that has now been taken away, so to speak. If you were to drain your body of all blood, how would it perform? Perhaps it is time to say enough taking of the blood, perhaps it is time to say this gift has given and it is time now to offer a new gift.

Around you are many, many gifts, and in the coming what you call Time of Great Action, one of the greatest gifts you can offer to yourself in the Oneness, in the claiming of your Oneness, is to allow yourself the infusion of gifts that do not take from any.

Are you one who receives through taking, or are you receiving through being given?

This is an important discernment toward claiming your Oneness. When you receive, are you taking, or have you been given? It is an important gift to remember, because when you take from any, then the energy becomes imbalanced and the energy of taking perpetuates Allness. Taking is an Allness energy. In the Allness, you'll take a lot of things! Many take in many ways.

To take something for simply the reason to take it, or to have it, or to own (which is a great illusion we could talk about much), this would be an energy that perpetuates Allness, and this is fine, if it is a perpetuation of Allness that is seeking resolution into Oneness.

You see Beloved Ones, your Planet, your Beloved Earth very soon, in this coming year, will suddenly find herself saying, "I can not give you more. I am dying if I do."

It will be a great challenge for many who say, "But we want to take, we want to take, let us drill here, let us drill there." It would be like someone coming up to you and saying, "Let me just cut open your head and see what I can find, I need just a little bit of your brain, it is OK, is it not?" How would you function with just a little bit taken? Taken, not given, for the truth, Beloved Ones, is that you could offer your entire brain as a gift and function quite well. Yes, think about it!

The Action of Stillness

It is a great moment in your world when the Allness is truly Alling itself! As Allness is Alling itself, you, Beloved Ones, are being invited into Oneness through action, and we use often for you this word stillness.

Let us talk about stillness. When we offer to you the word stillness, what do you think of? Buddha in a cave? Maybe. Do you think of a tree, with no wind? Maybe. What is stillness? The truth of stillness is that the brain has relaxed, allowing yourself to simply be in the presence of you, without any interference, without the need to take anything. Only Being. It is with great action that you are able to be in this stillness.

You are in a world of action, are you not? Let us begin with breathing! Go in, take a breath, go out. Action! See this, you are constantly in action. If you are breathing, you are in action, if you are moving, you are in action, if you still have a body, you are in action! To say that stillness can only be achieved in one way, is an Allness expression, because Allness seeks ultimatums. Allness seeks it to be one way or another without recognizing that in Oneness, all actions have brought you to the Universal recognition, integration, and presence of the One presence...You, and you and you and you and all the You's, and all the Me's!

You see Beloved Ones, in your Time of Action, this calendar as you like to refer to, will be as if a blink of an eye, and in this blink of an eye, everything will have changed. Transportation will change. The way that you allow yourself to integrate will change. The way that you proceed with things will change. Because it must. Because in the stillness, in the recognition of action, in the Allness culmination, Oneness is already upon thee.

So you ask yourself, "How do I interact in Oneness, what is Oneness for me?" And, then, ask, "What is Oneness for the One?" Yet you must begin with the me, what is Oneness for me, because your me's are very much alive! Me, me! Very alive! Honor this. Offer the me the stillness, the recognition, the presence of being. In the Divine flow, doors open, things become effortless, do they not? You find that one flow opens into another flow, and oftentimes in the flow there are those who come and those who go, are there not? The body, the emotional body, can respond with feelings, can it not? One comes in, happy giddy, one leaves, oh pain.

These responses to the expansionary flow are a beautiful gift if you allow them to be flow.

It is in the stagnation of the energies, in the owning of the energies, that it can never be another way again, that you stop your expansion into Oneness, and you stay in Allness. "I was hurt once, I will always be hurt, thereby hurting is my way of Life." OK! Allness. "I was in relationship once, it was awful, I will never have relationship again." OK. Allness.

When you are ready to expand beyond Allness, you find a flow, a Divine portal, a Divine doorway that opens for you in all ways. Then the little me comes up and goes, "Holy Moly!" Yes! The little me will come up quite a bit! Beloved, Beloved, Beloved Ones, your precious world is asking you to grow up! The little me has had quite a good ride, has it not? Yes! What a well-fed child it is, and, oh, the clothing! Yes!

Perhaps the little me is ready to retire, perhaps all of your relationships, all of your energies, all of your expansion, all of your interaction can be from Oneness. One recognizing One, recognizing the One, celebrating all of the experiences. When the little me comes up, you can have a little me party! Yes. You can simply say, “Little Me Party!” Honor the little me, and allow it to return itself to Allness, as you continue in Oneness. You see Beloveds, this is stillness in action.

Stillness in action is the recognition of all experience illuminating all, thereby bringing together a Oneness of Presence that is undeniable, releases doubt, and lets go of all judgment, especially of thyself. Beloved Angels, it is time to stop judging you. You are beautiful, you are whole, and you are ready for Oneness or you would not be here in this form now.

Flowing & Floating with Action

Your year upon you will have great floods of consciousness in your world, and many of these floods will be literal, and many of these floods will be in what you would call the realm of etheric energy. You are swimming, and if you do not know how, we suggest you take lessons, because it is a good time to learn to float again.

Float with the energy, be present with it, do not take. Action of taking in the Year of Action will be most uncomfortable. Action of receiving will return itself with great abundant presence. Yet, Beloved Ones, are you receiving through stillness or perceived righteousness? When your energy invites receiving are you inviting? Where are you receiving from? Your root center? We talk here of the traditional root center that says, “the me must receive this.” Or, is it from a heart center that says, “This is a form of receiving that brings Oneness to all?”

Beloved Angels, your abundance very quickly will be shifted in what you call the terms of money, and so it is important to recognize that your abundance is already upon thee, it can not ever be taken from you, unless you put yourself in the energy of taking. For if you are in the energy of taking, you will attract other takers, will you not? So what is it you wish to attract? Receive, give, take. Very powerful energies. Very powerfully expressed in Allness and beautiful expressions indeed.

Empowering the Release of Doubt

The gift in the Time of Action is that all lessons will be instantaneous; how fun is that? Instantaneous! You won't need to wait around for it, you'll get it! One way or another! Pay attention! Are you first and foremost still with doubt about the truth of who you are? Start just there. Start just there. Are you doubting the truth of you? Do you still seek to take energy from another to fill you up, because you do not feel whole yourself? Start there, then continue.

Once you can release the doubt of the truth of who you are, then you continue. Can you release doubt that you are here, that you are indeed in the Divine manifestation perfected pathway that is yours now? Can you release all doubt of that? This is a good second step.

Then you continue. You release doubt that anything you have done or another has done, perhaps you would perceive towards you or with you, could have been wrong, and you are able to recognize the expansionary energy that has come forward and is yours to be present with. Beloved Ones, there will be many takers, many receivers, many givers and many who are in stillness through action. If you seek to pull away, then pull away well, really dig in, get your supplies, and do it.

In the time of Oneness, of Allness and reunification, to walk among, to Be Presence, to simply Be in the Flow, to offer to yourself the gift of the release of all doubt, is stillness in action.

Be still, let it be, find your treasure without digging in the cold wood, so to speak. You do not need a hatchet, you do not need a shovel. However, the tool that is with you now is your own recognition of your Divine presence.

In the recognition of your Divine presence, the treasure will reveal itself and all is ready to be revealed.

The Action of Trusting your own Heart

It is important for us to say one more thing, in this Year of Action. Everything will be in action, and everything will be in floods of energy. You can see many floods of information, floods of other things, whether it is of a material nature, of any nature, floods and floods and floods and floods!

If you are without trust in your own guidance, even our words would not mean a thing to you. It is a gift when you can even hear our words and bring into your own heart a trusting recognition through your energy. This is a gift that only you can give yourself.

There will be many words, very soon, from many, who are very well funded to give you many words. It is your heart that will discern those words and the gift, the great gift of these many words, will be that you must trust your own heart.

Beloved Angels, the Kingdom of Light is at hand, is it not? It is within your heart, it is within your Love. You are great soldiers of Great Worlds of Love. Be in Action, let stillness be in action. Trust yourselves be grateful for who you are, know that you are ready. You will move through the flood effortlessly. And so it is.
