The Crystalline Beings of Light speak

We are here! We are here! We are here! And as we are here, we are here to share with you that is a moment of divine clarity. Let us offer these words around this moment for thee. It is a moment of divine clarity, and in a moment of divine clarity, one must, as they say wade through the chaos; wade through the drama, wade through the experiences. For all of these words are the same.

The Notification

So often in this experience we use the word notification, let us explain why. This is an experiential notification because as your soul, the energy of your divine limitless infinite being, as your soul retrieves evermore all of the parts of stored wisdom and memory, it is a notification that it is time to remember!

It is time to awaken, and it is through the experiential form-ness of this landmass known as Gaia, that this comes forward for thee. We seek not to confuse, we seek to offer greater clarity, which is why we are taking great care, great time, with our words for thee today. Because this is a time of divine clarity, therefore there must be solutions presented to inspire clarity.

Clarity cannot be demanded. Clarity cannot be sought.

Clarity is! You are always clear.

If you, for example hold a crystal, any crystal that is clear, the clarity cannot be disputed. Yet there is a complex alignment that created the clarity, and it is through the complexity that the clarity was birthed.

As you allow thyself the notification that the clarity is here, that the remembrance is here, that the time is now, then you will discover that there is the ease with which this clarity can come forward and be called forth.

It cannot be demanded. It can be awakened, and there is a great difference.

For within this world of grand illusionary co-creation, the words of your world, regardless of the language which with they are spoken, always add to the complexity. Always!

Expanding Notification: Releasing words – Flowing Answers

Consider that all words offer complexity. Perhaps you have discovered this through your own silent time, through your own tranquil spaces, through your own connection with meditation or reflection. Perhaps you have had the soft smile of inner recognition that when words are released...answers flow.

What a fascinating and beautiful thing when words are released your answers flow. So as the words are released and as the answers flow, it is important to recognize that through this process there is the divine gift of dancing through the complexity and allowing the clarity to flow through a time of notification.

Let us discuss this more.

What is it to be notified?

For some they may say: "If I am put on notice it offers me a sense of stress, or it offers me a sense of urgency, or offers me a sense of relief that at least I know."

And so all of these energies are coming forward now and you may discover that you dance with all of them. If you do, then your clarity is here. Truly your clarity is here.

Discovering the Trauma as part of your Soul Experience

This is important to recognize, because through the gift of this dance, through the gift of the recognition of the energies that are playing out within you, you will discover the benefits of trauma that are part of why this soul experience right now, in this moment that you are living in, right in this moment was your choice!

This was your choice. This is your choice, and your choice is divine.

This was your choice, this is your choice and your choice is divine!

There are many now that call out and say, "Take me home. I made a bad decision." There are many that call out and say, "I can't take it anymore." There are many that call out and say, "This is a wonderful world but why is it so messed up?"

Beloved ones! This is your choice, this was your choice, and your choice is perfect.

We, all of us who come and offer these messages, are here because you have called us. Always...always. For to come with any other intention would be to interfere with your divine choice.

The Creation and Complexity of Energy

In the spirit of the divine choice, and in the connection with the planet of free-will, there is complexity. This is because of the myriad of energies that come together and constantly create.

When two energies come together a new energy emerges. Even if these energies come together from seemingly polarized opposites, the minute they clash, the minute they conjoin, a new energy bursts forth. That new energy continues until it meets another energy, and it bursts forth and continues and continues and continues.

This is why every day is not the same, every minute is not the same, because your energy is constantly meeting other energy and through that it is constantly moving and transforming.

You, your perception of the you, is constantly in motion even when you feel you are not. There is always the meeting of energy to energy. This is an infinite experience. Within the sense of form, within the mastery of form, (which is why you are here, to master form), in the mastery of form there is turbulence.

There is the constancy of two forces meeting so that transformation can take place.

You may ask yourself, how does this help my clarity?

In many ways.

If you have a force that is meeting another force, if you have a decision that is seeking an answer, that energy is calling in a force of energy and it is coming together.

When the two come together it is not always as pleasant as your emotional bodies would require. Yet, it is always in divinity. When two forces come together it is how this third, or the birth force, is applied that is part of the journey of clarity.

The Birth force and Frozen Trauma

This is also where the trauma imprint begins. When forces collide. If one is unable to harness the birth from this collision than one has a frozen moment of trauma. This frozen moment of trauma is playing out now for many, and for all. You say, what is the difference?

We say those that are aware of the notification will discover a freedom through this awareness...a freedom through this awareness.

If you are constantly birthing, then you are constantly growing, you are constantly manifesting, and you are constantly available to the abundant flow of co-creative energy that allows for divine clarity.

And, if you are constantly meeting force with force, and unable to lift and birth, then you are constantly traumatized traumatized, traumatized. The soul will then retreat in favor of the form because your ultimate mission is the mastery of form.

When one has gifted the form with the experiences of this planet, mastery is abundant and the birthing is effortless.

The recognition that you are always interacting with the energies of this planet can become a soft, subtle wave.

A soft, subtle wave that allows you to dance through this birthing!

Rejoicing, growing, expanding, creating, and joining with those who are also creating and allowing the notification to birth clarity.

ARCHANGELIC INSOULMENT

And beloved ones there are many where just the opposite is true. And what is true?

Truth is also an illusion in a world of illusion.

All that can ever be known is the clarity of your divinity! And in the clarity of your divinity all truth is revealed. Truth cannot be hidden from a notified heart space, from an awakened soul.

When the energy moves this way, notification only causes joy. It does not cause stress, it does not cause pressure. To be notified of your awakened presence is a gift of joy and a freedom state that is yours now to claim.

It has always been available. You are simply now at a moment of linear time where it is the gift.

This is the gift of this moment, to have a greater sense of community of those who have awakened into their clarity so that the truth is no longer a word, it is a life lived.

It is an energy presented. It is an extraordinary blessing in an illusion of chaos and trauma.

We offer this to thee, and we encourage you to connect with this often. As you do, breathe in the blessing of clarity and exhale all trauma; the blessing of clarity, the exhalation of trauma, the recognition that the two energies are constantly supporting your growth, your upliftment.

There is not the trauma, there is a union, only "union" and growth, only birth and expansion. Through this gift you will discover a rich depth within that will open up as you might say, the floodgates of divine knowledge.

That floodgate becomes the smile of wisdom that minimizes the words, expands the heart, and opens the presence.

There is much to rejoice.
There is much to experience.
Beloved mastery of form,
beloved form-filled master,
dance and delight in the birth of your divinity.

Allow that gift to ignite others to be aware of their own notice and to expand.

It is the time of divine clarity and it is your time to remember.

And so it is.
