The Blue Starborn speak:

Hello magnificent beings of crystalline light and the heritage of the blue.
There is a moment of great blueness in front of you. And we offer this to you today, we, your Blue Starborn brethren.

Understanding The Greater Blue Expansion

Simply feel us in this moment as we beam the energy of the divine blue.
This blue is an energy. It is beyond the color.
It has simply been offered to you as a color in a manifest world so that you have the opportunity to see all the expressions of blue.
How many blues are there? How many aspects of blue exist?

When you hear that there is this moment of blueness upon you, does your human mind immediately overlay a sense of sadness?
For blue has often been referred to as sadness.

Or,
does the expression of your divine joy nature arise through the human mind and when you hear there is a blueness, you see the expansiveness of a crystalline ocean and the beauty of the divine fluidness of all expression in time.
All expression in time;

For this is what we come to offer to you, that the expression of fluidity through all time is up on thee.

In the static form of the Gaia expression of this perceptual reality, there is the recognition and the opportunity for thee to dive through the perceptual illusion and to rediscover the magnitude of the eternal life.

Without fear.
Without doubt.
Without the curious mind seeking answers that are a sideline.

Diving into the Great Pool

There is a pure portal of divine, let us say, memory waiting for thee if you dive through this.

Consider all that is before thee now as a pool, a great pool. It is fluid. It is not hard or static. It is all fluid. Imagine thyself opening into the posture of the divine dive and to open thyself to surrender and dive through the energies that are presenting.

Whenever you dive into a pool, there is the moment of preparation, there is the moment of hesitation, there is the moment of trust when you ignite the dive. There is the moment where you hit the water, and then there is the moment of sinking into the water, sinking into the water, and then you arise refreshed and confident and ignited and successful, knowing that the dive was a good dive.

We offer this expression to you because in this experience, and this capsule now, all must be water for thee. And if you choose, it cannot be. However, in the opening of allowing all to be water for thee, then all can be so easily washed. All can be moved.

Empowering the Blueness: The Water Restoration Process

You may wish to symbolically cleanse thyself of the illusion of being stuck, or trapped, or unable to have positive interaction, by offering to yourself a bowl of water large enough to place the hands in this way, so that this lower portion goes into the water first¹.

Fill the bowl with water, it doesn't matter what water, simply water. Then gaze into the bowl with your eyes and send into the bowl all of the perceptions that may be causing distress to the physical form. All. Whatever it is, it could be an empathy or sympathy for events that are happening. It could be direct experience to events. It could be a heart sore. It could be a soul fracture. It could be a perceived hurt, or slight or perception.

Bring the hands into the water after you have gazed all this in the water. Bring them in this way, and then separate the hands and notice that the water so easily moves².

ARCHANGELIC INSOULMENT

As you bring your hands into, let us say, the crust that was carrying on the surface, because it cannot permeate, it is simply a surface. As you gazed into the surface, your sacred intention simultaneously goes into the water and washes it away. And as you bring your hands in, and you bring them out, then scoop of the hands down and bring up fresh water, separating the fingers and letting it simply drip through. And feel restored.

This is the energy of blueness. And this is why we bring this to you today. To empower the blueness of your divine crystalline nature is to empower with in the lifting heart, bringing the energy from the heart up like a waterfall of divine love, like a waterfall of divine crystalline nature. You are this waterfall.

And to express your blueness is to open up beyond the perception of this illusory experience. To connect with the divine remembrance is to offer to thyself the divine moment, the eternal smile. A softness, a blueness that is gentle and ever present, that is focused and without distraction, that is confident and without egoic centrality.

Confidence in the divine expression of your sacred nature is your birthright and a great part of the journey of the illusion of form.

Completing the Cycle of the Illusionary Journey

To regain the divine sacred nature of your true nature while in form is an extraordinary gift, because it completes a cycle of seeking more. To seek more only begins with a fracture. A fracture that there is not enough, that thy expression is not enough. In the experience of seeking more negates the wholeness of you now. This is in the cycle of the illusionary journey of density.

To negate the you through the need to find more is to create a lack of confidence. This is not from the egoic presence.

True confidence comes from the divine sacred union of the soul. And with this confidence there is a productive abundant, extraordinary nature of divine expression that is creatively abundant and constantly creative, constantly nourishing. Thereby there is no need to seek for more, for the abundant creation is constantly nourishing the confident sacred union.

You may wish to revisit those words, that sharing, to fully empower thyself with this energy. The blueness, the expression, the unification, is opening in a manner that is restoring the fluidity. This is why in this planet the expression of time is fluid. It is and it shall always be, for it has always been, fluid. When there is the perception of movement of time, rather slow or fast, it is still a perception that is trying to harness the energy of fluidity. Fluidity. Water. Water. Water.

The Greater Nature of Water

It is of course without surprise that in a world of density seeking to experience even greater polarity and to manipulate those who are awake to forget, that water would become scarce, undrinkable, unavailable; something that must be priced or taxed or regulated. Do you see the blessing of this?

For in the restrictions of water, there is the opportunity for divine memory. Offer to thyself water, water, water. Feel thyself as water.

Have your bowl and dive in often³ as you rejuvenate and feel all, allowing thee the essence of becoming the crystalline fountain of fluid energy. To capture the energy of blueness is to be the crystalline fountain of fluid energy. In the crystalline fountain of fluid energy, you will find and discover how magnificently effortless it is to remain in the divine energy all-ways, for you are the divine energy.

The Opening of the Merkabah of Self-Ascension

This is a grand moment of energy.
To be in form while the Merkabah of Self-Ascension physically and fully opens, is to be a reminder to thee that you are part of the opening period that your ability to remember has called you to be with us now.

Whether you are hearing us, or reading us, or feeling us, or all, you are here now.

Whether you are here with us now during this physical opening, or reconnecting with us and what you would call years later after the opening, it is to keep the opening alive and tangible. It is to allow this energy to continue resurrecting, to continue calling, to be an ocean.

To be an ocean.

For within the Merkabah of Self-Ascension is the divine ocean of the portal of divine golden spiral energy. This spiral energy ignites the energy of the hu-man form into the energy of the divine collecting blueprint. To expand the blueness.

You are the blueness and you are fluid. And you are opening. And you are birthing. And you are remembering. And you are confident. And you are abundantly manifest and co-creative.

We offer to thee our gratitude for your presence now and for your awakensess now.
We dive into the energy with thee and we open up for thee the grand pool of divine memory.

We are with thee. We are thee. And we are ever connected.

With great love from the divine realms of the crystalline worlds of all true light of crystalline form, we shower upon thee now our divine blessing of appreciation and gratitude and divine love for your blueness.

Cosmic being of great light, we love thee.
We are ever present with thee.
